

IRTS Radio News Bulletin Sunday 31st January 2010

IRTS Contribution to RCD

The Committee at its recent meeting agreed to support Radio Club Dominicano, RCD, the IARU national society who have been co-ordination amateur emergency communications in Haiti. RCD have personnel on site and have set up a number of emergency portable repeaters on the border with Haiti. They are not a wealthy society and expect that their operations will be ongoing for the foreseeable future.

IRTS have sent RCD a contribution of $500 US dollars to cover some of their expenses. Any individual operators who would also like to help can forward contributions to Paul EI2CA or Sean EI4GK who will ensure that they are passed on to RCD.

One Ham and His Dog

Brendan Nutley EI1429, had the privilege to have an interview with HH2JR Jean-Robert Gaillard. Jean-Robert was the first Amateur in Haiti who made contact with the Outside world after the horrific Earthquake ripped his region apart.

During Brendan's limited time speaking to Jean (HH2JR), he explained in graphic and bone chilling detail Jean's accounts with the Haiti Quake which shook his home town to shreds. He later went on to explain about his, what was called by some people "Low-Tech-Radio" which was an Icom 706, and how he got connected to power and to the emergency net frequency.

Brendan is pleased to let everyone know that Jean is in good health and Jean said his pet German Sheppard Blackie was amazing. He was the one helping everyone and he did so much for Jean and the people around him. What started out as an interview for a radio club and Brendan's daughter's school who were also following the Haiti Quake turned into a casual conversation between two friends.

Videos of the Interview are expected to be posted on the Dundalk Amateur Radio Society website at www.ei7dar.com

There are also recordings of HH2JR's Phone patch comms on www.youtube.com and can be found with a callsign search.

Amateur Radio Licence Examination

The society's notes for the amateur radio licence examination have been revised, and a new document "Studying for the Amateur Radio Licence Examination" is now available for download on the downloads page www.irts.ie/downloads of the IRTS web site.

While the Syllabus in Appendix A and the Sample Paper in Appendix B of this document are unchanged, the covering note has been revised and extended. A new section in the covering note outlines why an examination is needed for an amateur radio licence. In this latest note we have also emphasised the benefit of obtaining practical experience at setting up and operating radio equipment alongside existing licensed radio amateurs either in a club or home environment.

Anyone interested in becoming a radio amateur, and in particular those studying for the radio amateur examination are advised to have a look at this new document.
